THE HERITAGE OF THE CLASS OF '65

The Class of '65 is about to receive its laurels. Every chapter in Alpha Phi Omega will strive to suitably honor them. Many chapters will confer Life Membership on one or more deserving brothers. There will be farewell dinners and picnics galore, as time for graduation approaches.

The Fraternity owes much to the Leadership and Service of the Men of '65. During their college years more than half a hundred new chapters have been chartered, and more than 20,000 new actives have been initiated. New types of Service have evolved, such as the Peace Corps, just to mention one, to which APO has lent effective national support.

Many graduating brothers participated in and gave leadership to the 1962 and 1964 National Conventions. Many have served as chapter officers, and quite a few as Sectional Conference leaders.

During their years in Alpha Phi Omega they united, with others, to provide the Fraternity with Roger Sherwood, its first traveling National Field Service Representative. His visitations, since last September, to more than 100 chapters is indicative of what can be done on a far greater scale, if the Fraternity builds on the heritage of the Class of '65.

We can best honor them by continuing to adhere to the fundamental purposes of the Fraternity. We must build Leadership, for Service, through Friendship. We must preserve Alpha Phi Omega, the National Service Fraternity, in its own image, and not permit it to become a cheap imitation of any other organization.

Just recently more than ninety brothers from twenty chapters made a Pilgrimage to Lafayette College, where the Fraternity was founded. There they renewed their vows of Service, and with the Founder, relived the days of Alpha Phi Omega's beginning.

In a sense, the men of the Class of '65 are about to begin a Pilgrimage of their own. Alpha Phi Omega hopes they will enjoy many years of life and happiness, and that Leadership, Friendship, and Service will continue to be a part of their way of life.

ON OUR COVER —

A new dimension to Alpha Phi Omega's continuing extension was added when Omicron Nu, University of Puerto Rico, received its charter. The Fraternity now stretches from Puerto Rico to Hawaii, and from New England to Alaska. In the cover photo, Rene Ramirez, First Vice President, is seen holding the charter. Dean Jaime Toro Calder, Dean of Students and Advisory Chairman, appears at the far left in the next to the back row. Andres Salas, the Council Scout Executive, stands in back of him. Two of the chapter's advisors, Jose Gonzalez-Johnes and Dr. Jose M. Gallardo, appear in the back row, far right, in back of Joseph Scanlon, National Executive Director.

KAPPA TAU — THE CITADEL — HONORS GENERAL CLARK

Members of Kappa Tau Chapter, The Citadel, Charleston, South Carolina, led by their most distinguished alumnus, Dr. Tom T. Galt, the National President, presented, April 2, the Outstanding Service Award Certificate and Citation to General Mark W. Clark, The Citadel's President.

General Clark, one of America's most distinguished second World War army heroes, retired that day as President of The Citadel. His interest in Kappa Tau men has been a source of pride and inspiration, not only to them but to the entire Fraternity as well. The chapter's Citation reads as follows: "The Alpha Phi Omega, National Service Organization, is proud to present this award of exceptional achievement to General Mark Wayne Clark for the outstanding leadership, personal example, enlightened guidance and dedicated service he has given The Citadel cadets of Alpha Phi Omega during the eleven years of his presidency of The Military College of South Carolina. The vast prestige of General Clark's position and accomplishments together with his dedicated devotion to the cause of Scouting serves as an inspiration to the men of Alpha Phi Omega on every college campus of our nation where our brothers serve."

The Certificate for Outstanding Service bears the signatures of Thomas M. B. Hicks IV, the Chapter President; Major John W. Fahy, Advisory Chairman, and Dr. Galt.

ETA BUILDS SCHOOL IN GUATEMALA

Eta, Northern Illinois University, has added an international dimension to Alpha Phi Omega's national project, support of the Peace Corps. The chapter has contributed $1,000 to build a school in Guatemala. The story of this exciting project was made known March 22 at a dinner in the University Center.

"You are creating a relation you cannot duplicate in any other way," Dr. Francis R. Geigle told members of Alpha Phi Omega as the service fraternity presented a $1,000 check for building materials for a school in Guatemala. The check, from funds raised by APO in the annual Ugliest Man on Campus contests of recent years, was accepted by Dwayne Stevenson.

Labor for the school will be furnished by village natives.

Brian Malec, APO President, presented the check, saying the 40-member fraternity owes a lot of thanks to Northern students who contributed in the UMOC contest. The UMOC is selected by students who pay a penny a vote.

Stevenson said he could never forget the contents of the letter received by the Peace Corps from APO last summer. The letter, he said, stated that the fraternity would like to go beyond the bounds of DeKalb, the state and the country, and participate in an international experience. Randy Beattie, APO publicity chairman, afterwards identified the letter writer as Brother Ronald Beem, a married student.

A village 40 miles northwest of Guatemala City will be the APO project location. There are 54 families and an estimated population of 350. There are 67 potential students. The populace is completely Indian, of Mayan descent.

Under direction of a P. C. Volunteer, they have put up the walls of a good-sized, one-room school, but have gone as far as they could with the little money they were able to raise among themselves. The land was turned over to them by the owner of a huge farm in 1956.

Sargent Shriver, Director of the Peace Corps, has written Brother Malec of Eta chapter as follows: "I am pleased that Alpha Phi Omega and Northern Illinois University have joined with us in the Peace Corps School-to-School program. . . .

"Our opportunity is unique: to make it possible for the children in an overseas community to have a school for the first time. Your check for $1,000 will provide for a much needed school in Guatemala. . . .

"My congratulations and best wishes to the students of Alpha Phi Omega. This program should be the beginning of a meaningful relationship between your school, a Guatemalan community, and the Peace Corps."

PETITIONS UNDER CONSIDERATION

Walker College, Jasper, Ala. Fitchburg State College, Fitchburg, Mass. East Texas Baptist College, Marshall, Texas

THE CHALLENGE OF LEADERSHIP

By Dr. Delmer H. Wilson,
National Executive Board

Editor's note—Dr. Wilson's fine address at the Denver National Convention on this key topic was a highlight of the Leadership Training Program there. Here are excerpts from his challenging message:

I would like to explore five aspects of "The Challenge of Leadership."

What is leadership and how can leadership be defined?

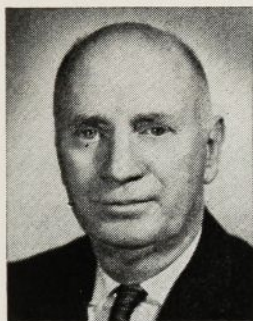

What is the leader's job?

What are some of the qualities of a leader?

Leadership in action.

Dividends of leadership.

First, what is leadership? Leadership begins with the leader. . . what he is thunders louder than anything he can say. . . men tune in on a leader's wave length. . . they take his measure. If he rings true, his position is established.

Dr. Delmer H. Wilson

I recently ran across a definition of a leader which I like — "A leader is a person who has influence with others, which causes them to listen to him or his advice: to have common goals and go into action toward these goals."

Second, what is the leader's job? Actually, the leader has three jobs: planning, personnel, production.

The true leader is a self-starter. He initiates plans and sets them in motion. In his chapter he takes the long view—at least a year ahead—in plotting the course, planning the program. He sets clear objectives, with numerical goals.

In working his plan the leader puts people first. He does not drive them to work but, instead, inspires them to want to work. He does not make people feel "ordered around"—rather, he inspires them to lead themselves.

Production in a factory is easy to measure. So is production in sales. But how is production measured in Alpha Phi Omega?

Go back to the plan for the year, the month. Check your objectives. These are production objectives.

One evidence of life is growth. Growth in membership. Is the chapter growing?

Alpha Phi Omega's purpose is service. What service projects has the chapter planned? How well have we delivered on our service objectives? Did we plan seven, but deliver on three?

Remember, one of the leader's three jobs is production. You just don't assign or delegate. If production does not come—you fail.

Third, what are some of the qualities of a leader? A leader has initiative. Initiative is a rare quality. Coupled with enthusiasm and strong follow-through we have an unbeatable combination, provided — provided the three are tempered with good judgment.

A leader delegates responsibility, with a proper measure of authority. He does not try to do the work of the chapter personally. He sees his role as promoter, planner, supervisor, stimulator, with many people related to production.

NEW VISTAS FOR BILL ROTH

Past President William S. Roth will, on May 1, assume a new and challenging role with the American Humanics Foundation, an organization pioneering in the field of college preparation for careers in youth leadership.

Brother Roth will serve as Executive Vice President, a newly created post made necessary by the growth and impending expansion of this program.

The Foundation achieves its objectives by establishing Departments in selected colleges, providing a specialized curriculum. The course is enriched with field trips and workshops which serve to equate reality with classroom theory. These departments are located in liberal arts colleges, usually church-related; the program leads to an A.B. and eventual placement in professional youth work.

Founded in 1948 and launched on the campus of Missouri Valley College in 1949, it has for sixteen years been projecting its basic concepts in four schools. Now with a tested and proved pattern, it is ready for expansion in response to the urgent need. A new unit will be inaugurated this fall at High Point College, North Carolina. A special grant has assured another for the state of Indiana, the college not yet having been chosen.

Since many of the young men majoring in this field have a Scouting background, a great number of Foundation students are members of Alpha Phi Omega. APO chapters are found on all campuses where the American Humanics Foundation is now serving, and at High Point. Thus we can take double satisfaction in this new field of leadership for Bill Roth.

To date 386 young men and women have already graduated in the Humanics program. They are serving in posts of leadership in 38 states and overseas. Professional Scouting claims a predominant number, with others in YMCA, YWCA, Camp Fire Girls, Girl Scouting, Boys Clubs, Family Service, USO, 4-H, Peace Corps, Youth Opportunity Corps, juvenile court and probation, state training schools, children's homes and hospitals, law enforcement, guidance and counseling, recreational therapy, and sports. Another 35 will join their ranks in June.

APO Past Presidents H. Roe Bartle, Marion Disborough, and Arno Nowotny are all trustees of the American Humanics Foundation. Many outstanding men of APO are on the roster of Foundation graduates. Ralph McCreary of the McCreary Tire and Rubber Company of Indiana, Pennsylvania, is currently president of the Foundation and responsible for the appointment which takes Mr. Roth to this unusual post. Home office headquarters are in Kansas City, Missouri.

The fraternity wishes Brother Roth every success in his new and challenging post.

William S. Roth

CHALLENGE OF LEADERSHIP

The competent leader is there when the smoke has cleared away. He delivers on the job.

Another leadership quality has to do with job descriptions. Good operation calls for proper organization and clear definition of responsibility. Alpha Phi Omega pamphlets effectively outline the duties of officers and work of chapter committees.

Fourth, leadership in action.

The successful leader is a team builder. He creates team spirit. He gives credit where credit is due. He does not carry the ball on every play. He sees that the other players have a chance at some of the touchdowns.

One of the leader's objectives is the development of his associates to their real capacity. Lawrence Appley of the American Management Association says "Management is the development of people and not the direction of things."

The successful leader can be led. He is not interested in having his own way, but in finding the best way. He is a searcher for the truth and listens with an open mind.

The successful leader is not a stuffed shirt. He has a sense of humor. He can laugh at himself. He uses humor to lubricate the gears of human adjustment.

Fifth, "Dividends of Leadership"

Rotary International, the great service club, has a theme, "He profits most, who serves the best." This same rule applies to leadership and to leaders. "He profits most, who serves the best." There are some specific dividends which accrue to a leader. For example:

Poise, self-confidence. Ability to think and to speak while on your feet. Development of administrative talent. (It takes the same skill to run a chapter of Alpha Phi Omega as that required to run the city of Denver.)

Ability to work effectively with people. Development of sales ability. Skill in selling an idea is not too different from that required in selling real estate. Recognition. As a leader in Alpha Phi Omega you will be recognized on the campus. Your abilities will become known. Additional opportunities will open to you.

Probably the greatest dividend will be in a sense of inner satisfaction, a knowledge that you have done a useful service and done it well. This sense of inner satisfaction, my brothers, is something which I crave for each of you as you do your important part in the leadership of Alpha Phi Omega.
