TORCH AND TREFOIL

The life of
Walter W. Head

characterizes the refinements of citizenship.

To the men who employ the Scout Oath and Law on the university campuses of America, his exemplification of the holy mandate of love of God and love of man, has given inspiration.

The humble dignity of his sacrificial living and the tenets of Alpha Phi Omega—Leadership, Friendship and Service—are in juxtaposition.

We hail Walter W. Head, who, as our national honorary president for more than a decade, has vividly delineated the joy that comes from service to fellow man.

With appreciation and admiration, we do honor to a distinguished parent, teacher, leader in business and civic life, churchman, humanitarian, and for over a quarter century, a motivating force in the great youth movement of the world, the Boy Scouts of America.

Done at Kansas City, Missouri, this 14th day of May, 1946, by the National Executive Board of Alpha Phi Omega.

THE NATIONAL PRESIDENT REPORTS . . .

By H. Roe Bartle

The early fall reports from chapters of Alpha Phi Omega indicate three points of emphasis.

First, our chapters fully recognize the increased opportunities and needs for service activities proportionate to the greatly increased enrollments on all campuses, and the outlines of projects received from many chapters indicate a stronger service program than ever before.

Second, the increased enrollments have also caused our chapters to increase their membership standards for the current year, and it is evident that a good number of chapters in the larger colleges and universities will reach and maintain active memberships of between 75 and 100 men, while chapters in the smaller colleges will maintain standards of between 40 and 50 men. Various means have been used by chapters to locate the eligible men as candidates for membership, and effective rushing plans are underway.

Third, wide interest has been expressed in the arrangements for our 1946 national convention to be held in Kansas City, December 28 and 29. Chapters far and near have already indicated plans for sending official delegates and visiting delegates, and as the time approaches it is evident that more and more members will be registering for the convention. The fraternity office will make available to each chapter a convention registration form about November 1 and will request that each chapter elect and report its two official delegates soon thereafter. Program assignments and committee assignments will be announced by the program committee in November.

This convention promises to be the largest gathering thus far in the history of Alpha Phi Omega and the program will be more thorough than presented at any previous convention. This meeting will provide a helpful exchange of ideas from all chapters concerning projects, policies and methods. The advancement of Alpha Phi Omega in the next two-year period will depend upon the wise decisions and deliberations of the convention group. Be sure your chapter has its full share in planning the nation-wide activities of A-Phi-O for the future by having a strong delegation present at this convention.

My heartiest congratulations too to all who are working so faithfully in our brotherhood. Alpha Phi Omega is "rolling" and we may well anticipate that this school year of 1946-47 will be the greatest year of growth and service in our fraternity's history.

HELPING JAPAN BECOME DEMOCRATIC

By G. W. Diemer

*President of Central Missouri State College
Member of United States Education Mission to Japan*

While I was in Japan as a member of the United States Education Mission, I visited many schools, both public and private, from the primary through the Imperial University. The primary schools of six years are co-educational although boys and girls are in separate classes beginning with the fourth grade. Above the primary schools, separate schools are maintained for boys and girls. Under the Imperial system there was one purpose in women's education summed up in the words, "a good wife and wise mother." The whole purpose of the education of boys and young men is to be found in Emperor Meiji's famous transcript on education, issued in 1890, and read prior to the occupation with great ceremony in the schools of Japan, one section of which is as follows:

"... Always respect the constitution and observe the laws; should any emergency arise, offer yourselves courageously to the state; and thus guard and maintain the prosperity of our Imperial Throne, coeval with heaven and earth. . . ."

Japan has had a very efficient system of public education set up for the one purpose of training the individual to live and die, if necessary, for the state of which the Emperor was the symbol. History, geography, and morals were all directed to this end, and hence when the occupation forces took over, one of the first things which General Headquarters did was to issue a directive taking these subjects out of the curriculum until such time as revised material along democratic lines could be prepared. All children go through the primary school, but from there on the whole process is selective. On the basis of competitive examinations, about ten per cent of the boys enter the middle school, and about ten per cent of the graduates of the middle school are admitted to the higher school which prepares for the Imperial University. In other words, only one boy out of every hundred can hope to enter the public university. Opportunities for girls have been much more limited. Probably not more than five per cent of the girls who graduate from the primary school enter a girls' high school and a very small per cent are admitted to a girl's college.

President Diemer has long been actively interested in the program of Alpha Phi Omega and is an honorary member of Beta Kappa Chapter. His belief in the objectives of the fraternity has been a guiding factor in the success of his chapter. His two sons, John and George, were charter members of Beta Kappa Chapter. George, a Marine pilot, gave his life in the Pacific war, and President Diemer visited the grave on Ivan Island, about five miles from Roi Island, when on the United States Education Mission to Japan. Alpha Phi Omega is honored to present President Diemer's report on this page.

The Education Mission was invited to Japan by General MacArthur, the War and State Departments to make a study of Japanese education and recommend its reorganization along democratic lines. The mission, therefore, took the position that there must be equality of educational opportunity for all the youth of Japan—that every boy or girl should have the right to go as far in school as his interests and abilities will carry him. The whole system of education must be built upon the recognition of the worth and dignity of the individual. Through educational processes, the individual must have the knowledge which will develop him as a worker, a citizen, and a human being, but he must know how to use this knowledge as a free citizen in the building of a democratic Japan that will be "a bulwark of peace," to use the words of General MacArthur.

I have never seen greater eagerness for learning than I found among the Japanese young people. Among the ruins and the rubble, Japanese schools are crowded, and the great Imperial University of Tokyo had more than 8,000 students last year. Many of the students in the middle schools, higher schools, and universities are service men in the faded uniform of the Japanese army. These young men are in school to learn how to rebuild their nation.

The Japanese are eager for American help. Their expressions of appreciation came to the Mission in our audience with the Emperor, with Premier Shidehara, with Minister Abe of the Ministry of Education, and with many other Japanese. As one prominent Japanese expressed it, "Your Mission is unparalleled in history. A conquering nation sends a mission to help uplift the people of the conquered nation!"

We have a great opportunity to make of Japan a truly democratic nation and a good neighbor to America. Prior to the war, the Boy Scout movement was fairly strong in Japan. However, it was never popular with the Imperial Government, and other organizations of Japanese youth set up for ultra-nationalistic ends became dominant in the years immediately prior to the war. However, in the democratization of Japan now going on, there is a tremendous need for democratic organizations such as the Boy Scouts and Alpha Phi Omega. Here is a project greater than that on any local campus in the United States, to take the great ideals of democratic service through Alpha Phi Omega to the Imperial University, the private universities, and higher schools of Japan. To do so is to help America because unless Japan is democratic and peace loving we shall never have a peaceful Orient.

—James E. Trimble, President.

NORTH TEXAS STATE COLLEGE

With the enrollment at the highest peak for all times at North Texas State College, Gamma Rho Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega is expanding its ranks also. With more than 2,000 men on the campus, APO is recovering from the time when there were only 12 active members, to a new time high of over 50 members. At the first called meeting of the fraternity this fall, there were 42 members present, 35 of these were veterans, returned to the campus to finish their education. Along with this group were several of the charter members of the organization.

This first meeting was more of an introductory session than a business one, but the business of a fall pledgship was discussed. Immediate plans for the fraternity is a smoker, at which time the members may get better acquainted with one another. As usual our faculty advisor is Mr. Bill Copper, who has done a grand job since the very beginning of our chapter.

With more and more veterans and other students returning to the campus now, A-Phi-O is getting set for one of its largest programs of service.

We're looking forward to being in Kansas City in December.

—R. Wesley Brock, Historian.

UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

Several of our chapter officers spent the summer working on the staff at the local Scout Camp, after which we took a tour of the West. During this tour we discussed at length the plans of Delta Theta Chapter this year. Our winter term gets under way September 30 and great things have been planned in service to the University and to Scouting.

—Walter Mahoney, President.

OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

In a very encouraging letter from the brothers in summer attendance, I am informed of two new pledges, a very successful camping trip, and lines laid for football usher coordination plus that meetings were held every other week with an almost perfect attendance. Seven actives were in Columbus this summer.

Our chapter will act as coordinator of Scout ushers at all OSU home football games. It is the most important job that we have undertaken to date, and it's a way to get into a sold-out stadium. It takes about 1,000 Scouts to usher at a game and it may take more with the new seating arrangement.

—Dick Claes, President.

UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA

Our first meeting of Delta Beta Chapter for this year was very successful with all members present and several prospective members. We plan to have approximately 75 active members by Christmas so this will mean real work.

—C. E. Goldsmith, Secretary.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE

Here on the campus of Washington State College school has been postponed two weeks because of delay in the building of a men's dormitory, but will now start October 7 with freshman week starting September 29. —Joshyo Kinoshita, President.

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA

The Beta Zeta Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega at the University of Georgia has plans underway to make this coming fall quarter the most active and productive one since our activation here. We have been busy for the past several weeks compiling maps of the campus and the city of Athens for sale to students on registration day. The proceeds from the sale will go into the Student Scholarship Fund, and Alpha Phi Omega is listed as distributing agent on the legend of the map.

In addition to the selling of maps, we plan as in the past to operate an information booth at a strategic point on registration day, and be prepared to give advice and directions to incoming and new students. As soon as our first meeting date comes up, we are going to lay the groundwork for increased service projects, a membership drive, an "Ugly Man Contest," a Campuswide Sing for men, and several other worthwhile activities.

The fall plans of Beta Kappa Chapter are underway and we anticipate an excellent year.

—Richard Findley, Treasurer.

BULLETIN BOARD

"THE H. ROE BARTLE CLASS"

An announcement has been sent to all chapter officers concerning a special dedication of the Fall pledge class in honor of our National President, Dr. H. Roe Bartle. In tribute to the sixteen years of loyal and untiring service which Dr. Bartle has devoted as president of our organization, a class of 1000 new members is being formed to be designated as "The H. Roe Bartle Class."

Each active chapter has been asked to accept a quota as its share in accumulating the class of one thousand members. This is your chapter's opportunity to say "Thanks" for the services rendered by our national president.

A NEW MANUAL

Off the press in the next ten days will be the new "Manual of Administration." It is designed to give chapter officers, advisors and committee chairmen full knowledge of their responsibilities. It thoroughly describes the policies and operating methods which are "tried, tested and proved" in the most successful A-Phi-O Chapters. And it includes both the national constitution and by-laws and the standard chapter constitution and by-laws.

Copies will be sent individually to all chapter officers and advisors (and extra copies will be sent to each president to be presented to the committee chairmen).

NATIONAL ANNIVERSARY

December 16 will mark the twenty-first anniversary of the founding of Alpha Phi Omega. The week of December 10 to 16 is designated as Anniversary Week. This provides occasion for a special meeting of each chapter, to include a banquet, historical review, initiation ceremony, outline of plans for the future, and other features. The celebration of the national anniversary is traditional in most chapters, and is a high spot in each year's program. The time is right to make advance plans for your chapter's celebration of the twenty-first birthday of the fraternity.

CONVENTION FUND

Has your chapter discussed ways and means of earning a Convention Fund to pay the expenses of your two official delegates to the forthcoming national convention? The values which will come to your chapter from participation in this convention will deserve all the effort needed to earn the required amount to send your delegates. The costs for hotel and meals have been announced to all chapter officers in a special bulletin.

It is appropriate to appoint a special committee to have charge of earning a Convention Fund.
