TO THE PLEDGE CLASS OF ALPHA PHI OMEGA FRATERNITY

To you Pledges of the Alpha Phi Omega, I extend greetings. As I have said many times previously, the APO endeavors to develop leadership, to promote friendship, to provide service to humanity, and to further the freedom that is our national, educational, and intellectual heritage -- all those virtues which are dear to the heart of every American Scout. To these tenets of Scouting, I should like to stress another -- that of physical fitness. As the President's Counselor on Physical Fitness, I urge you to give special consideration to keeping yourselves at top physical condition. This is a requirement with which all of you have been familiar since your early scouting days and I am sure that each of you knows the value of a physically fit as well as a mentally fit body.

I heartily recommend this fraternity to you Pledges for I believe that your participation in this organization will give to each of you a sense of fulfillment and will bring honor and distinction to your school.

Sincerely,

James A. Lovell, Jr.
Captain, USN
NASA Astronaut

Alpha Phi Omega proudly announces the dedication of the 1967 Fall Pledge class to Brother James A. Lovell, Jr., Beta Theta, '47, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

America and the rest of the world formally greet him as James A. Lovell, Jr., Captain, USN, NASA Astronaut. He won world-wide acclaim as the pilot of Gemini VII. Recently President Johnson named him to head the National Council on Physical Fitness.

Brother Lovell is the most recent of outstanding Americans selected by the National Board to proudly bear the name of a Fall Pledge class. In each instance the Brother or national leader designated is one who exemplifies APhiO's cardinal virtues of Leadership, Friendship and Service. Each has been a man all of us could proudly point to as the embodiment of our ideals and fraternal aspirations.

Pledge classes have been dedicated since 1946 as follows: Dr. H. Roe Bartle, 1946; J. Edgar Hoover, 1947; World War II Memorial Class, 1948; James E. West, 1949; The Founders Class, 1950; Dr. Ray O. Wyland, 1951; Dean Arno Nowotny, 1952; James Stanley Leedom, 1953; Prof. Daniel Den Uyl, 1954; President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 1955; General Carlos P. Romulo, 1956; Lord Robert Baden-Powell, 1957; Dr. Albert Schweitzer, 1958; Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, 1959; Joseph H. Brunton, Jr., 1960; President John F. Kennedy, 1961; Dr. H. Roe Bartle, 1962; Dean Arno Nowotny, 1963; Herbert G. Horton, 1964; Dr. Lester R. Steig, 1965; Frank Reed Horton, 1966.

Brother Lovell was invited last June to attend the Alumni National Convention meeting in Washington, D. C., and came to the National Capitol to do so. Unfortunately, NASA called a conference at Houston which he was required to attend. Before he left he met with National Fraternity APhiO officers and Alumni leaders and discussed ways and means to further the Brotherhood. A photograph of the June conference group appears on page 6 of this issue.

Site of First

National Constitutional Convention

Alpha Phi Omega's National Constitutional Convention will be held December 27-28-29 at the Oklahoma Center for Continuing Education, the University of Oklahoma, Norman. This will be the first Fraternity gathering ever held devoted exclusively to the consideration of APhiO's Fundamental law.

Chapter delegates to the 1966 Convention authorized the meeting and laid down certain rules to govern it:

- Only one person can attend from each chapter. That Brother will be the official delegate the chapter names to represent it.
- No visitors or spectators will be allowed. This will be a working Convention from start to finish.
- Twenty-five members of APhiO's National Board and one representative of the Alumni Association may attend.

Each delegate will pay a fee of $38 to cover three nights lodging, seven convention meals, the registration fee, badges, use of facilities, and incidentals. Instructions in paying this fee and in how to register are being sent directly to each chapter.

The National President will preside at the opening of the Convention, now scheduled for Wednesday evening, December 27.

Brothers of Delta Beta Chapter, the University of Oklahoma, will serve as hosts and will be in charge of transportation arrangements to and from the Oklahoma City Airport, the nearest airport to Norman. They will provide a Service Corps to care for the immense amount of paper work that will be required to keep all delegates informed and aware of measures under consideration.

Convention Coordinator Aubrey B. Hamilton and the National Director recently inspected the facilities. Brother Hamilton, who is APhiO's

Legal Counselor as well as one of its Vice Presidents, feels the facilities are the finest APhiO could obtain to hold a Constitutional Convention.

The President urges each and every chapter to select their most capable Brother to represent them at Norman. The Convention will lay down the foundation for APhiO's continued growth and health in the decade to come.

Every chapter is urged to set up an "On to Norman" fund to care for the $38 delegate's fee and, if possible, to assist with transportation to and from Norman. The city of Norman is served by the Santa Fe Railroad, and by the Oklahoma Transportation Bus line, with which Greyhound and Continental connect.

The President appointed nine committees last spring to draft position papers to assist the delegates with their deliberations. The reports of these pre-Convention Committees will be shared with the chapters as soon as they are available.

The facilities for the Convention are superb. The Forum building, in which the sessions will be held, contains a hexagonal assembly room, arranged United Nations style. The presiding officer and the secretary will be seated in the well. The speaker's podium will be in view of all of the delegates. The acoustics are excellent. Every delegate will be able to hear and see clearly all that takes place.

The Convention Committees will be appointed by the President and confirmed by the delegates. Each committee will have a special room assigned to it. All committee rooms are located in the Forum building. The space is ample to conduct any necessary committee hearings.

Rooms with twin beds will house the delegates. Each is equipped with toilet and bath and comfortable furniture. All food service will be handled in the Commons; vending machines for soft drinks, coffee, milk, and candy will be placed at strategic points for after-hour snacks.

Every chapter should select its delegate by November 15. Plan your program accordingly.

Without doubt, this Convention will be the most educational Alpha Phi Omega has ever held. It is of the utmost importance to have delegates from each and every chapter. There is no proxy voting in APhiO; your chapter can have only one person present—your delegate. Send your finest. "In Brotherhood—Carry On."

2 SIGMA EPSILON, El Centro Jr. College, Dallas, Texas, was installed by visiting members of Alpha Rho, U of Texas, and Theta Tau, U of Texas at Arlington. Dean James P. Hannigan, National Executive Board, presented the charter. The group displaying the newly presented charter are: Dean Donald T. Rippey; C. W. Bohanan, Scouting Advisor; Dean Hannigan; Bob Smith, petition group president; and Gayle M. Weaver, Advisory Chairman.

National Executive Committee Actions

The Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C., will be the site of the 1968 National Convention, the National President announced following the session of the Executive Committee, held at the Shoreham, June 24, 1967.

The Shoreham and a number of other Washington hotels had submitted bids, which were studied and reviewed by a special committee of the Executive Board, headed by Chairman Ed Andrews and assisted by Lorin A. Jurvis, Sectional Chairman for the District of Columbia and Maryland. Both Brothers were present during the consideration of the hotel site report.

In other actions the Executive Committee:

- Reviewed and approved an operating budget for the fiscal year 1967-68, submitted by Finance Committee Chairman Gerald M. Plessner. (This budget proposal was subsequently mailed to the entire Executive Board and has been approved by them.)
- Approved the establishment of a Founder Frank Reed Horton Best Pledge Award.
- Implemented the Board's decision to provide a group insurance and hospitalization program for the Fraternity's employed office and national Service staff. The Fraternity and the employees will contribute to the plan.
- Studied the progress report on the 1967 Constitutional Convention and commended Chairman Aubrey B. Hamilton for his leadership and guidance.

- Noted with appreciation, and a vote of thanks, the receipt of a Resolution from the National Council, BSA, recognizing the work of Alpha Phi Omega.

Members of the Committee attended some of the sessions of the National Alumni Convention which was in session at a nearby hotel.

The Executive Committee consists of the President, the three Vice-Presidents, the Treasurer, the immediate Past President and the Executive Director. All were present for the session except the Director, who was ill and could not attend.

As We Go to Press

The Executive Committee of the National Executive Board is meeting Saturday, October 7, at the Chase Park Plaza hotel in St. Louis.

The committee is headed by the National President, Brother E. Ross Forman, and includes the three National Vice Presidents, Dr. Glen T. Nygreen, Aubrey B. Hamilton and Robert J. Hilliard; the National Treasurer, Gerald M. Plessner; the immediate Past National President, Dr. Tom T. Galt, and the National Executive Director, Joseph Scanlon.

The agenda includes the Constitutional Convention of 1967, Tribute Fund Dinners, Alpha Phi Omega's finances, and reports and recommendations of various committees.

Preliminary drafts of Constitutional Convention position papers will be studied and reviewed and a deadline set on when final drafts must be completed and sent to chapters.

The committee will consider ways and means to insure a smooth functioning convention at Norman. The details are enormous. The Fraternity must accomplish in minimum time a maximum achievement. No effort will be spared to insure its success.

The 1966 National Convention held in Minneapolis was the largest and best attended to date. More than 1,000 Brothers, representing 210 chapters, participated.

December of 1968 may seem far off, but it's only fifteen months away. Since the last Convention, 51 new chapters have been chartered, and many more will be added to the list before we meet in Washington. It promises to be a record breaker in every respect.

Sectional Chairmen Meet in Chicago

Sectional Chairmen for Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin conferred Saturday, September 16 at the Valley View Chicago Council Scout Reservation near Hinsdale, Illinois.

President E. Ross Forman and National Director Joseph Scanlon conducted the session, assisted by David A. Harris, National Service Representative. Ways and means were explored to improve Sectional operations, conference programs and chapter service. Similar Training Conferences are planned for other sections of the country.

National Service Representatives

Gene attended Texas Tech for four years majoring in marketing. He served as President of the Freshman Council of the Baptist Student Union. He pledged Beta Sigma in the spring of 1964. He held various committee posts including publicity, program, service projects and fellowship. He served as Homecoming Chairman for Texas Tech his senior year. As Chairman of the Awards Committee he had the honor of helping his chapter present the first Service to Humanity Award to H. Roe Bartle. He was honored by his chapter in the fall of 1966 when he received the Distinguished Service Key. To further aid him in public relations and field representative work, he worked closely with the Executive Director and Assistant Director of the Ex-Students Association of Texas Tech.

Tom transferred to Florida State University after graduating from St. Johns River Jr. College in Palatka, Fla., his hometown. While at FSU, he majored in radio and television production, took his minor course of study in speech, and graduated in 1963. He pledged Iota Rho in the spring of '61, headed several committees and was elected Alumni Secretary. After graduation, he served three years with the Army as an information specialist and spent three years overseas with the Medical Corps, serving as the managing editor for an Army newspaper. Besides being an avid photographer, he is a sailing enthusiast and scuba diver. Tom will be working, as Associate Editor of Torch and Trefoil, and as a National Service Representative.

Leadership

By Brig. Gen. Harry O. Paxson,
USMA, 1927, Sectional Chairman,
W. Tenn. and Kentucky

Leadership is a lot of things to different people in various situations. Not long ago, as a Sectional Senior Advisor, I was asked to define and discuss Leadership as it might apply to Alpha Phi Omega.

It seemed useful to follow the approach of first hammering down some of the negative aspects of Leadership; then we would be free to build up a case for what Leadership is (in a positive vein).

Leadership is "not" three qualities, the words for which all start with the letter "D." Leadership is not "Directing." This term connotes an all-wise, all-powerful master sending out "the word" to be obeyed.

Leadership is not "Driving." This term also denotes the master with the whip or the order imposing his will on those of lesser stature.

Leadership is not "Dabbling." Too often a well-meaning person, otherwise qualified to lead, will so interfere with the natural capabilities of his colleagues that utter-chaos results.

Leadership "is" expressed by three "E's." Leadership is expressed by "Expertness" in what we do. Knowledge and skill, born of study and practice, produce the expert capability that is contagious. In Scouting terms, "Be Prepared." Leadership is "Eagerness," it moves men and mountains. Leadership is "Example." Confidence is inspired by the leader who produces results by his own efforts. The Army Infantry motto, "Follow Me," is illustrative of the spirit of "Let's go, fellows; we can do it."

Closely related to the three "E's" above, are seven personal qualities that a leader must possess in great degree. I list them in no significant order of importance, though I rate the first quality as a foundation stone on which the others firmly rest.

I speak of "Humility." Not the scared-stiff, "I'm nobody," "walk-over-me" type of humility. Not at all. I speak of that God-inspired willingness to recognize that I am not the center of all creation; that it is not I who am important; but rather the things that I do to help others—the service I render; this is important.

I speak of "Graciousness," the kind (and sincere) word spoken at a tense or distraught moment to show appreciation for the thoughtful things that others do. It describes one's desire and ability to see some good in those around us and to express that observation. A smile is a gracious illumination of a dark day.

Let us maintain a "Breadth of Viewpoint." In my studies of physics and astronomy I'm amazed at and stand in awe of the immensity of the Universe—billions of light years on, and on, and on into the vast void whose end we cannot comprehend. Surely this thought will convince us that there is much to be learned, much to be done; too much for us to harbor "littleness" within narrow confines.

A "Willingness to Listen to Advice" is another measure of a great leader. One need not always take the advice; nay, many times the best course is to follow a contrary course, based upon broader experience and greater wisdom. But sometimes, perhaps more often than we realize, there are gems of truth and power hidden in the advice that is beamed for us to hear and ponder.

A leader must be able and willing to "Make a Decision." For of what use are knowledge and power and potential if we cannot or dare not narrow the choices down to at least "a" choice, hopefully a course of action that will start things moving? A corollary to the foregoing is the courage to "Implement the Decision Promptly" without endless re-examinations, hesitations and reconsiderations.

Finally a good leader must not just launch a well-conceived plan. Until attainment of the goal is assured, the leader must monitor, analyze, re-energize, support, and report upon the critical elements of his program. His final commitment is to praise and reward those who have done well; and to confer with (and if necessary to reprimand) those who have not lived up to their capabilities.

As Rudyard Kipling once said, "You'll be a man" (if you succeed in demonstrating such Leadership).

So . . . You Want to

For many years, worthy organizations and fund drives have been receiving the benefits of one of the most popular and fun filled events on college campuses across the nation.

The Ugly Man on Campus Contest (UMOC) sponsored by the men of Alpha Phi Omega is a long standing tradition. Wrote one college administrator: "The faculty and administration look forward to the Ugly Man contest with almost as much interest as the students. It creates an atmosphere of friendly competition and unity at the same time because everyone knows it's 'jest for fun'."

This article is designed to aid the new chapters in planning and setting up an UMOC contest and help the older chapters revitalize a still popular fund raiser.

First, pick a good reason for conducting the contest, such as health organization fund drive, campus charity, scholarship fund or any of several worthy causes.

Second, check with the officials of your college administration to request approval. Explain fully the purpose and plans of the contest.

Third, as in any project, plan it well within the limits of the chapter. Determine the method of voting, the candidacy eligibility, publicity, awards, and the possibility of an assembly devoted to it, such as a dance, half-time at a football game, etc.

The fourth main step is to select a capable chairman who can get the job done. The contest results are usually directly proportional to the chairman's efforts. This is an excellent opportunity to develop leadership.

After considering these first four general steps, the next move is to start planning the details. These suggestions are exactly that:

CANDIDATES

It is recommended that you allow both campus-at-large and living-quarter candidates, for if exclusive to either, the danger exists of not appealing to enough varied interests on the campus. Usually men's dorms, fraternities or other groups will sponsor a girl for the "Queen Contest," and women's groups will sponsor an UMOC contestant.

Usually a written application for each candidate is best. Only those filed should have votes tabulated for them. Mythical or fictitious entries could upset the entire project. This is also an excellent place to get "Before and After" pictures of the candidates for use in this or even next year's event.

Consider the faculty! If enough informality exists, maybe this group might have entries, or even their own contest.

UMOC SUCCESS STORY

Would you believe $23,860.00? That's the total reported by Epsilon Mu chapter at the University of Maryland.

The UMOC contest is held in the spring on the U of M campus in conjunction with the student government's Campus Chest Weeks. During these two weeks all campus organizations are encouraged to raise money for charities.

In recent years APhiO has consistently produced a majority of all the funds raised on the University of Maryland campus.

Concurrently during the Campus Chest Weeks, APhiO holds a Miss Campus Chest Queen contest

(MCCQ) and a Beauty and Beast Dance (B&B). The contestants of the UMOC and MCCQ are introduced at the Beauty and Beast dance, and the winners are announced two weeks later at the end of the campaign during an event sponsored by the Student Government.

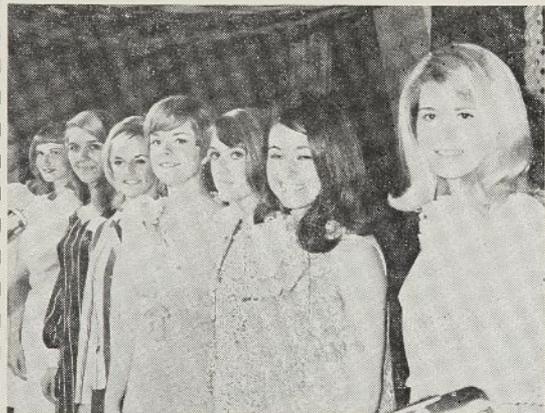

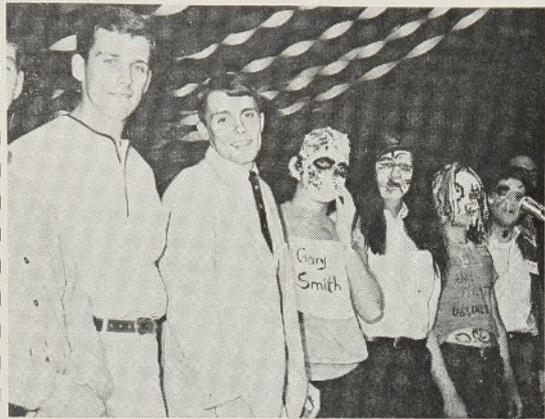

"The most important thing about the UMOC contest is to build up its name on campus", reports 1st Vice President Evan Winston, "this of course takes a number of years".

Epsilon Mu organizes its gigantic efforts with an Over-all Chairman, and four sub-chairmen; a chairman for each of the contests and a publicity chairman, to work with all three to co-ordinate publicity.

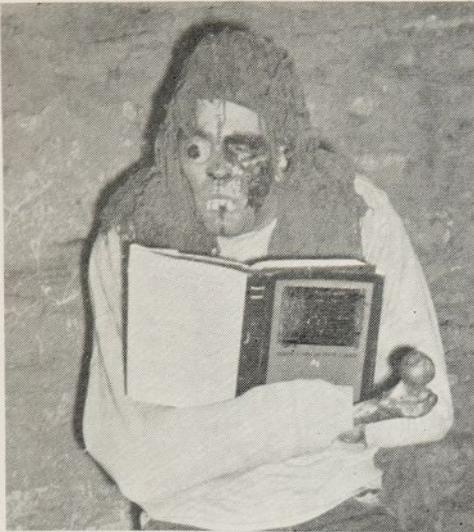

EM has offered to answer inquiries in specific areas of conducting the UMOC. So address them to: UMOC Chairman, Alpha Phi Omega, P. O. Box 72, College Park, Md. 20742.

Heartiest congratulations to Epsilon Mu, and best wishes for continued success in being of service to the campus and community.

UMOC photos at left were submitted by Epsilon Mu chapter, U. of Maryland, taken during their record-breaking combination contest. Other photos have been gleaned from the National files but were not identified when submitted to the office.

Hold a UMOC Contest

Pipe down! I've got a test in UMOC 101 tomorrow.

As to candidates from among your chapter members, this is a ticklish subject. We'd say only under other sponsorship, and perhaps not even then.

CHAIRMAN

A planner, a promoter, a doer, a motivator, one who can get others to work and get the job done. Close cooperation is needed between co-chairmen, and they need the close support of a good supply of manpower, i.e., subcommittees of voting, filing, finance, etc. The chairman is usually chosen several months in advance to give him enough time to plan well.

VOTING

Select a specific time and place for the polls to operate. Man them with APhiO members, and set a standard charge per vote (usually one cent). Decide at the beginning, the contest termination time and when the results will be announced. Then stick to it. A premature leak of the winner (or the losers) can add a sour note that will not easily be dispelled.

Any type of electric tabulators you can devise will enhance the voting procedures and help keep the spirit of competition up.

PUBLICITY

The amount and type of publicity your contest receives can make or break it. Here is an excellent opportunity to boost the name of APhiO and the contest as well. Planning for photographs, releases, posters, hand-outs, advertising gimmicks and the timing of each holds importance which is second to none. If the contest is in conjunction with a local charity drive or any community affair, this is an excellent point for publicity for the school as well.

PRIZES

The Ugly Man Key, available through the National Office, is the most popular award. Perpetual trophies, given to each year's winner, are often highly prized possessions in the trophy rooms of campus groups, as they show the winners from previous contests.

If the prizes will not be announced until the winner is chosen, be sure the secret is well kept.

A college or student body official or a local personality will lend prestige to the contest and to the prize, and makes for good publicity.

THE PAY-OFF

The announcement of winner(s) should be a special and memorable occasion. It can be hinged on another big event such as an all-campus dance, talent show, homecoming event or pep rally.

This is the appropriate time to award the money to the recipient and get all the details wrapped up. Follow-up publicity at this time can make next year's contest easier and more profitable.

By involving as many Brothers as possible in the running of the UMOC, or whatever the name of the contest on your campus, you build a spirit of teamwork and Brotherhood. Success will not come overnight, but dedication and hard work will build a foundation for future events. If a similar type of fund raising project is being carried on at your campus by another organization, you can volunteer to help.

Remember that the Ugly Man on Campus Contest, though lots of fun, is a service project sponsored by the men of Alpha Phi Omega who enjoy a national reputation for doing things well, with purpose and dignity. "In Brotherhood—Carry On."

Psst!! I show you how to get pesos.

All right, you guys, let's get started.

Where the Action Is . . .

RALLYE TYME—Omicron Alpha, Kutztown State College, Pa., held its second annual Road Rallye this spring. Fifty-one drivers took approximately 2½ hours to run the 81.3-mile course. Trophies were awarded to the drivers and navigators of the first three places. OA also boasts a long list of solid service projects to both campus and community.

Halloween Means Birthday at Delta

By Morris Welsh
Delta President

Halloween claims a special place in the hearts of the men of Delta Chapter at Auburn University (Alabama), for it was on October 31, 1927, that Delta became the fourth chapter of Alpha Phi Omega.

Since the first three chapters were located close to one another in Pennsylvania and New York, this installation made APhiO truly a "national" fraternity. Since that time, we have developed a lasting tradition as the oldest continuously active chapter in APhiO. Of course, there have been rough moments, as with most chapters, but Delta's strength has been in her ability to develop a brotherhood with an ever-growing dedication to service and to the building of leadership.

Known as "the Auburn underground", the chapter centers its operations in an abandoned basement boiler room which now serves as the Book Exchange and the chapter lounge and office. Continued renovation has brought the joint investment by the university and the chapter to several thousand dollars.

Current projects include the annual UMOG contest; an annual scholarship; guided tours; distribution of campus pacs, student directories, and career books; training of the school mascot WAR EAGLE IV; sponsoring an annual Scout camporee; and numerous other manpower projects.

The Book Exchange sales reached over $20,000 last year and continues to grow. Recent gifts to the university include a marble site marker, an outdoor fountain, a cage for the mascot, 90 outdoor benches, 75 pencil sharpeners, 25 litter cans, and a color TV for the Student Union.

SLIDE RULE registration at the University of Missouri at Rolla is a Beta Omicron affair. UMR is primarily an engineering campus and most of the students have slide rules. Chapter President John Munns, right, watches as Bob Fick, Corres. Sec., engraves identification on the slide rule of a UMR student.

In a salute to the heritage of Delta, a mammoth 40th anniversary celebration will be held October 27-29. This will include three distinct events.

The first will be a special session of the Alabama section to study the ideas to be discussed at the upcoming Constitutional Convention. The second event will be an assembly of as many of Delta's 750 alumni as can attend to formally organize an Auburn University Alumni Section of APO. Students and alumni will then join for a banquet and program saluting Delta's 40 years.

This month we at Delta will pause to remember our past. But the past shall serve as the prime challenge for the future. We hope that the next 40 years will be even greater.

The number of outstanding citizens and leaders in America who believe in Alpha Phi Omega is heart warming and encouraging.

One of these men is Zenon C. R. Hansen. Brother Hansen is President of Mack Trucks, Inc. of Allentown, Pennsylvania, and has served as member of the National Executive Board of APhiO. He is also an active Scouter who has held many positions of regional and national leadership.

The emblem of the Mack Truck Company is the bulldog. Mr. Hansen, believing in Alpha Phi Omega and wishing to make his support substantial, had an inspiration. He knew that there were many colleges and universities in America that had the bulldog as a symbol.

With the co-operation of Dr. Delmer H. Wilson, National Director of Personnel, Boy Scouts of America, and Joseph Scanlon, Executive Director, Mr. Hansen developed a program of making the small lapel pins available to the chapters of the fraternity in those schools where the bulldog was the mascot.

As of the time of the writing of this article, nine of the thirteen chapters which received information of the plan have ordered nearly 31,000 of the pins.

The Mack Truck Company, through its public relations firm, John Deitrick and Associates of New York, is preparing suggested merchandising material to help these chapters sell the pins.

The proceeds from the sale will be entirely for the use of the chapter as decided by the officers and membership. There is no cost for the pins from the Mack Truck Company.

This fine proof of support of Alpha Phi Omega may encourage other individuals and other chapters to develop similar programs. At any rate, the chapters in the schools that have bulldogs as a mascot, can enrich their treasuries and thus their chapter service.

HIGH HOPES — Pledges of Sigma Mu, Virginia Union University, show their high hopes for a successful chapter as they display an oversize service button at their first pledge project. They cleaned and painted the bell tower, a VU campus symbol.

Showered with merited praise from all sides seventeen of Alpha Phi Omega's finest, headed by Ed Andrews, represented the Fraternity at the International Scout Jamboree. The gathering was held in Farragut State Park, Bay View, Idaho; the seventeen comprised Alpha Phi Omega's Service Troop, possibly the busiest unit at the Jamboree. Thousands of Scouts and leaders were present from all parts of the free world.

President E. Ross Forman and Vice President Robert J. Hilliard visited with them, as did Dr. Delmer H. Wilson, George F. Cahill, M. R. Disborough, Frans A. Victorson and Warren Stookey, Members of the National Board serving as Jamboree leaders.

Foreign notables learned about APhiO at first hand. Rover Scouts from Canada showed special interest in how to form APhiO there.

Arrowmen Attend APhiO Classes

More than 320 Arrowmen attended the classes of Alpha Phi Omega at the 52nd Anniversary National Conference of the Order of the Arrow, held at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln, August 28 through September 1.

Brothers from 26 chapters throughout the country and Puerto Rico attending the OA Conference also took an active part in the six APhiO "Like Interest Groups" sessions. National Service Representatives Dave Harris and Tom Barnawell conducted a lecture-slide series and panel discussions.

APhiO Hits 100,000

Initiated members in Alpha Phi Omega reached 100,000 last May when Theta Eta Chapter initiated Brother Donald A. Swayze at the Kansas City College of Osteopathy and Surgery. Half a dozen chapters registered new initiates in the last one hundred men enrolled before the long sought one hundred thousand goal was attained.

Brother Swayze also has the distinction of being born on Pearl Harbor Day, December 7, 1941. He has served as make-up editor for the college annual and as a leader in the APhiO sponsored Scout Troop. The Fraternity presented him with a jeweled pin engraved "100 M" to record his unique membership.

Very few national collegiate fraternities have ever initiated as many as 100,000 members. Most of the few that have, were founded more than a century ago. APhiO was founded in 1925.

Who will become Member No. 150,000?

"100 M"—Don E. Christiansen, Theta Eta President, accepts the "100 M" pin, on behalf of Donald A. Swayze, from Dr. H. Roe Bartle, Past National President, representing President E. Ross Forman. Dr. Bartle was National President when Theta Eta was chartered.

Alumni Association Plans Founders Tribute Programs

By Gerald M. Plessner

A nation-wide program to locate and involve the thousands of uninvolved Alpha Phi Omega Alumni has been launched. The Founders Tribute Program is an effort to bring together Fraternity Alumni in the fellowship of Alpha Phi Omega, providing as a focal point, dinners in scores of cities across America this fall.

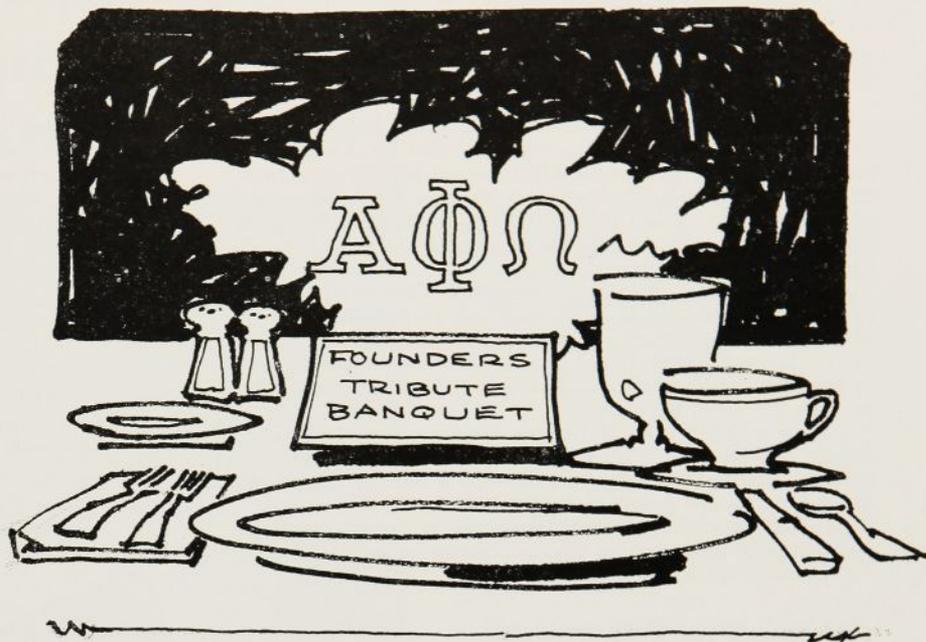

Through National President E. Ross Forman's leadership, local dinner chairmen have been appointed in more than forty cities from Boston to San Diego, from Miami to Seattle. The plan calls for dinners to be held between October 15 and Thanksgiving Day of this year, but at least one will be held in spring, 1968.

These annual events, called Founders Tribute Dinners, will feature good food, fellowship, news of local and national fraternity activities, recognition of a local "Alumnus of the Year," and a chance to become an affiliated alumni of Alpha Phi Omega.

In addition to the "Alumnus of the Year" award, a number of other recognitions will be a part of this program. A special "Long Green" award will be given to all Life Members who attend a dinner. This ribbon will testify to the role Life Members play in providing "long green" for the fraternity's future financial security.

A beautiful "Founders Tribute Membership" plaque will be awarded to alumni who have given major financial support to the fraternity.

Although arrangements will vary in each city, one ingredient will be at a high level in every town. We're talking about FELLOWSHIP! Dinners will be held in fine restaurants. Wives will be welcome. Fellowship will abound at this great ingathering.

The Founders Tribute Program has an important two-fold purpose: To provide a means for involving alumni in the future of Alpha Phi Omega and to provide needed additional funds for the fraternity.

All dinner participants will be given a chance to become alumni members in the Founders Tribute Program, by contributing $5.00 or more to their fraternity. This is an extension of the sustaining membership program begun last year. For this fee they will receive Torch and Trefoil magazine for one year and they will be considered an active alumni member for that time.

Of course, all alumni will be encouraged to become Life Members and the $5.00 annual gift can apply to Life Membership.

The National Alumni Association, long the organized alumni arm of the fraternity, has a key role in this new program. At this recent convention, they gave a strong endorsement of the program and individual members are giving leadership to dinners in their areas. Membership in these two programs will be synonymous.

We've listed the cities in which 1967 Founders Tribute Dinners are planned, together with their chairman and his phone number. If you are an interested alumnus or life member of Alpha Phi Omega, we hope you'll contact your chairman right away to express your interest in attending one of the first Founders Tribute Dinners.

Alumni Hold Fourth National Convention

By Douglas M. Harris

The Fourth National Alumni Convention, held June 23 to 25 in Washington, D. C., was attended by a group of enthusiastic and dedicated brothers. A tightly run program, under the chairmanship of Brother Paul Cunningham, President of the National Capital Section, featured informative meetings, gala social events and an array of prominent guest speakers.

At the Friday evening President's Dinner, National Fraternity President E. Ross Forman traced the history of our fraternity from its inception to its current status as the largest fraternity of the nation. He expressed joy at the new and closer relationships between the Alumni and the National Fraternity.

The speaker at the Saturday luncheon was Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Director, U. S. Selective Service System. Brother Hershey left us with a new appreciation of hard work as a prerequisite to success.

At the gala Convention Banquet Saturday evening, the featured speaker was former Congressman Calvin D.

Johnson, now Director of Customer Relations for Remington Rand. Honored guests included Brother Mark O. Hatfield, United States Senator from Oregon, and Dr. Delmer H. Wilson, National Director of Personnel, Boy Scouts of America. Installation of officers, presentation of the Jewel Brother Awards, and dancing highlighted the evening.

The legislative sessions, under the leadership of Brother Richard E. Mastrangelo, produced many worthwhile changes in the constitution and several resolutions which will be used in further promoting cooperation between the Alumni and the National Fraternity.

The Convention closed Sunday morning with an inspirational rededication ceremony.

During the Convention, the Alumni Association approved several key resolutions affecting the Association's continued growth and its determination to assist the National Fraternity to continue its good works.

SUMMARY OF RESOLUTIONS

- I. Concerns the establishment of the office of National Fourth Vice President for Alumni Affairs to coordinate the alumni affairs of the Fraternity.
- II. Recommends to the Constitutional Convention of Alpha Phi Omega the establishment of a National Alumni Committee and further recommends that the chairman of that committee serve as a member of the National Executive Board of the Fraternity.
- III. Recognizes that much business brought before a National Convention concerns both Alumni and Undergraduates. It recommends that members of the Alumni Association be allowed to vote at all conventions and that such privilege be limited to one vote per recognized Alumni Section but not exceeding one-third of the total votes cast by the undergraduate delegates present and voting at the convention.
- IV. Adopted the following "Opportunities for Service":
 - To give support to existing chapters and to assist in the establishment of new ones when called upon.
 - To aid in promoting and conducting seminars, conferences and conventions.
 - To strengthen the Fraternity by providing financial assistance.
- V. Recommends the establishment of, and pledges support to, an Alpha Phi Omega Building Fund to help continue the growth of the Fraternity.

1941 GEORGE A. CATHERWOOD 1967

Alpha Phi Omega salutes Captain George A. Catherwood, USAF, Iota Lambda, '63, North Carolina State University. Few men have ever attained the honors conferred on him or better exemplified APhiO's principles of Leadership, Friendship, and Service to the nation.

Brother Catherwood was killed in an air crash near Hahn, Germany, last June 23 while piloting the supersonic F4D fighter-bomber.

His military record was impressive. He was cited for "... extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight as an F4C aircraft pilot over Southeast Asia. . . ." The Air Force conferred on him the coveted Distinguished Flying Cross, and the Air Medal with six Oak Leaf Clusters for his service in North and South Vietnam, where he flew more than 120 missions.

Brothers in Iota Lambda will recall him as a most dependable chapter member, whose special field was aero-space engineering. In Scouting he attained Eagle rank.

Brother Catherwood was born in Brooklyn in the year of Pearl Harbor. He came to North Carolina in 1946 and at the time of his death was a resident of Burlington, N. C. He is survived by his wife, Brenda, and daughter, Tonya Joyce, born Aug. 15, 1964.

His action as a man, a citizen and a member of Alpha Phi Omega will remain an inspiration to all of us.

The Peace Corps— Another Challenge to Serve

by Brother Frankie Claunts, Beta Sigma, Calcutta, India

The Peace Corps celebrated a birthday this year—its seventh. And in these past six years the Peace Corps has grown from an idea into one of the most vital and creative agencies of our government. Although the publicity and limelight that was showered on the Peace Corps in its infancy may be waning as newer issues surface on the seas of America's consciousness, the Peace Corps itself is, nevertheless, constantly striving to fulfill its destiny in a world where want prevails.

What is it that makes the Peace Corps thrive? What magic spark continues to breathe life and energy into the Peace Corps?

To men of Alpha Phi Omega the answer is fairly simple, and one very close to home. It is the spirit of service. That flame of service that has been the potency of our fraternity is also the wealth and fertility of the Peace Corps.

As in Alpha Phi Omega, this idea of service has provided the foundation upon which the Peace Corps has built an energetic and spirited instrument. But the Peace Corps extends its hand in the symbol of service to the whole world—to developing nations in Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

Wherever people want to help themselves to a better way of life, there the Peace Corps also wants to help them. The Peace Corps tries to respond to the challenge of service wherever it is presented. This, to a large degree, is the secret of its success.

Whether it involves engineering in Brazil or raising poultry in India, the Peace Corps, optimistic in the future of man, is responsive to the challenges of today's world.

The Challenge

The challenge to serve in the Peace Corps is coupled with opportunities for education and adventure that are unparalleled in modern times.

The Volunteer is on his own thousands of miles from home, learning through his own experiences about a new culture and a new society. He may be challenged to win the confidence of an Asian village or of a tribe of Latin American Indians. He will live with the people and share the experiences of their everyday life, trying to help them find solutions to their problems.

The broadening effect of this experience is priceless in understanding better the world we live in and the people who live here. And the adventure of new sights and sounds, new customs and manners, is in itself stimulating.

Meeting these challenges is not always easy, of course. It demands patience sometimes, and flexibility—sympathy and endurance and understanding.

Volunteers encounter many frustrations and trials that can be much more taxing than anything they might face at home. Those two years of a Volunteer's experience sometimes contain intense disappointments.

But ex-Volunteers overwhelmingly agree that those years of service were more rewarding in terms of education, understanding, and personal satisfaction, than any other experience of their lives.

The Peace Corps has, in reality, a dual offering to make. To an emerging nation it offers manpower in areas important to the development of the country, and to the Volunteer it offers an exciting and rewarding experience. Those who serve are most often enriched, in intangibles, beyond those whom they serve.

The Need

But to continue to respond to its important commitment the Peace Corps is constantly in search of resources—human resources. For without a steady flow of qualified Volunteers, the Peace Corps idea cannot be translated into reality.

The Peace Corps wants more Volunteers—it needs men of character.

Since Alpha Phi Omega has selected the Peace Corps as its National Service Project, it is hoped that chapters throughout the nation will assist the Peace Corps in its efforts to serve. Please contact the Peace Corps liaison officer on your campus and ask what you can do to help him. And when the Peace Corps recruiting teams visit your campus, please do all you can to make their work successful and effective.

You can put up posters for them, advertise their coming, and help them arrange programs for contacting the students. Recruiting new Volunteers is essential to the successful operation of the Peace Corps program, and your help in this area would be sincerely appreciated.

But you can do much more than help to recruit. The Peace Corps needs men of character to serve as Volunteers through the world. What are you doing for the next two years?

Torch and Trefoil

The National Office is constantly searching for better ways to serve the Fraternity. As Alpha Phi Omega grows and the staff is enlarged, we probe the lines of communication to help establish and promote better understanding.

Our National Conventions provide an excellent means for the Brothers to exchange information and the Torch and Trefoil should serve as the idea exchange media between conventions.

By submitting articles and/or photographs of your chapter's activities and interests, we can better select the contents of the Torch and Trefoil to suit those needs. Obviously if all chapters sent in material simultaneously, it would be physically impossible to print them all, but this would give the editorial staff a chance to work toward the goals we all are striving for: better Leadership, Friendship and Service.

In preparing articles, make sure the information is clear and concise. Photographs should be sharp and uncluttered. Strive for close-ups. Let us share your ideas and interests with others.

1966-1967 CHAPTER HONOR ROLL

By Aubrey B. Hamilton Chairman, National Membership Committee

Congratulations to the Officers, Members, and Advisors of the chapters listed below. Their achievements in Service, in Leadership, and in recorded Membership were outstanding. We trust they will share the secret of their success with other chapters as we enter upon Alpha Phi Omega's forty-third year of Leadership, Friendship and Service.
