"In developing and executing a chapter service program, both the Brothers and those being served should benefit. Brothers should feel good about the quality of volunteer work they have done. They should feel challenged and have had the opportunity to learn new skills and strengthen friendships."

MESSAGE FROM THE NATIONAL PRESIDENT

There are two topics I wish to discuss. First, this edition of the Torch and Trefoil contains the names of all Alpha Phi Omega Torchbearers for the current year. These are alumni who have donated $50 or more to the Fraternity.

It is extremely important that you understand the significant role these individuals, along with those persons who also gave but are not Torchbearers, have in the continued success of your Fraternity.

Alpha Phi Omega's operating budget is approximately $400,000 per year. Almost ten percent of that amount comes from dedicated alumni with the remainder derived from undergraduate fees, merchandise sales and other income. In addition, we have a mortgage payment on our new headquarters that is met entirely through alumni donations over and above gifts to the operating budget.

Simply put, Alpha Phi Omega could not function as we are used to without all the alumni who helped with donations, both large and small, this year. For example, if we fall even $10,000 short in donations to the operating budget, it is likely that immediate cuts in the hours of part-time employees, postage and printing would be necessary. That would mean slower responses to chapter orders and inquiries, and fewer Chapter Bulletins or Service Hotlines.

I hope that our students appreciate the sacrifices that our alumni make to provide Alpha Phi Omega — you — with a portion of their hard-earned money. It is particularly gratifying to me that our alumni gave more money than ever in the midst of a recession when it was harder to give.

They do it for you and because of you. I wanted you to know that.

* * * * *

Second, at the Regional Conventions this fall, we tried something new — a workshop on diversity and sensitivity. Based on the responses I received from undergraduates, as well as faculty advisors, this experiment was a success.

The purpose of Alpha Phi Omega is to gather college students together under the principles of the Boy Scouts of America in order to develop leadership, promote friendship, provide service to humanity, and further the freedom that is our cultural and intellectual heritage.

All college students who may share our ideals should be made to feel welcome and needed.

Attending brothers role-played scenarios at the Region VIII conference seeking to reflect attitudes on how we address our chapter membership.

But which college students? The answer is all college students who agree with our principles and purpose.

Where do we find students who share our ideals? Human nature being what it is (and those of you who participated in the "Wellington Foundation" exercise at the regional meetings know what I mean), we tend to associate with persons like ourselves, be that race, religion, nationality, gender, field of study, or personal viewpoints. Only when we are willing to admit this tendency will we understand that the same phenomenon will occur in our membership programs if the search for new members is primarily limited to those with whom we already associate.

In short, lack of prejudice or intolerance does not equate with diversity or sensitivity to divergent views. And because the purpose of Alpha Phi Omega is not limited to those like us, we must reach out to all college students who may share our ideals and make them feel needed and welcome.

As an example, if I must develop a formula for world peace, what are my chances of success if I seek only the views of white, male, catholic, American lawyers? I must confront the barrier of my "like me" comfort zone if I am to succeed.

The same is true of Alpha Phi Omega as it attempts to fulfill its noble purpose. We will not make this country or the world a better place through service and leadership — or at least will not be as effective as we could be — if our membership is not as diverse and inclusive as the student population in general.

Alpha Phi Omega will never reach its full potential until each of us recognizes the inertia that results when people just talk to and associate with people like themselves. We have a tremendous gift to share if we are willing to reach out to others different from us to identify a common commitment to the ideals of leadership, friendship and service.

After all, therein lies the true unity of Alpha Phi Omega brothers, and those to whom we reach have many talents and perspectives that can help our Fraternity realize the vast potential of its future.

President Jerry Schroeder fielding questions at the workshop on diversity and sensitivity at the Region IV conference in Nashville, Tennessee.

"Write down a list of ten people to join you on your journey ..."

1991 TORCHBEARERS

In this issue of the Torch & Trefoil, we recognize our donors. Those brothers giving a minimum of $50 are recognized as Torchbearers. Those brothers giving $500 to $2500 are recognized as Torchbearers and Founders' Circle. This year the level of donors will be listed by chapter and not in separate groups.

All our donors are important and necessary to the operation of the Fraternity. It is through them that Leadership, Friendship, and Service are kept alive on our campuses.

They invite you to join them in their commitment.

ALPHA GAMMA IOTA

Despite its newness as a chapter, Alpha Gamma Iota, at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, has been busy in service to the campus, community, state and nation. They have adopted the Ronald McDonald House of Philadelphia, volunteering with the children and contributing the results of fundraising events, as seen in the accompanying photos. Additionally, the chapter of 37 brothers conducts campus blood drives, book drives, voter registration, Scouting for Food, and clean up of a local park. With months of clean up and preparation, the chapter turned one of the unused buildings on campus into a haunted house for Halloween. With free admission, there were over 500 visitors. The event gained city-wide recognition with television and newspaper coverage. For further information contact Anthony Bixler, Alpha Gamma Iota Chapter, Alpha Phi Omega, 510 South 42nd St., Box 312, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19104.

IOTA PHI

The brothers of Iota Phi recently celebrated 40 years of service to the campus and community. As one of the largest chapters of Region X, and with the help of their largest pledge class (93) to date, they have plenty of brothers to help celebrate as well as to help with the many service projects planned throughout the year. One such project was Project Playpark in Davis, California. A two-part project, the first consisted of a Fun Run in which brothers helped a local elementary school raise money in order to build a playground for the children. The brothers helped register the kids as well as their parents for the races. They cheered the racers, handed out awards, and worked at the refreshment table. After raising enough money, the anxious brothers got together with local contractors to help build the long-awaited playground. Other projects planned throughout the year are annual ones, to include helping at the San Francisco Examiner "Bay to Breakers" race. For further information contact Iota Phi Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, Student Activities Office, Box 123, College Station A, Davis, California 95616.

LAMBDA OMICRON

On Friday, August 30, 1991, Lambda Omicron Chapter, along with Beta Chapter, participated in the annual Run-From-Pitt to fight autism. This is the 21st anniversary of the benefit Run in which the Pitt vs. WVU football game is carried from Pitt Stadium in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, to Mountaineer Field in Morgantown, West Virginia. Run-From-Pitt, a journey of over 80 miles, is the focal event of a two-semester fund-raising effort to create funds to combat autism, a severely incapacitating lifelong developmental disability.

The run begins at Pitt Stadium with a handoff from Panther head coach Paul Hackett to Beta president Lisa Ballehr. The ball is then relayed by members of both schools through Pittsburgh and along Route 19 to Morgantown, West Virginia. The concluding handoff is from WVU/APO "Run-From-Pitt" chairman David Richard to Mountaineer head coach Don Nehlen during pre-game ceremonies at Mountaineer Field.

To raise funds, runners collected donations as sponsorship for the run, and sponsored a Pass-a-thon, car washes, cookie sales, bingo, and a benefit picnic. Students hosted Run-From-Pitt parties where collections were made for donations to fight autism. Spawning more spirit in the Run, a "design the official T-shirt" contest was held. Locally the Pro Image Sportshop was the sponsor of the T-shirts. The shirts were then sold to raise more money for autism. Money canisters were placed in area merchant shops to collect donations. Anker Energy Corp., Rally's Hamburgers and U-Save Auto Rentals also contributed to making this run a success.

During the fall semester even more events were planned including a showing of "Rainman," a movie about an autistic person starring Dustin Hoffman. Raising money, however, was not the only goal for Lambda Omicron. Bringing a greater sense of awareness about autism and educating people were two additional goals. Last spring, Dan Torisky, National President for the Autism Society of America, and his son, Eddie, who is autistic, were invited to make a presentation to the Lambda Omicron Chapter. The presentation was extremely memorable and informative to all who attended. Informational flyers about autism were also made and posted, informing people of the event and creating more autism awareness. For more information concerning this or other projects contact Lambda Omicron Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega at Mountainlair SOW, West Virginia University, Morgantown, West Virginia 26506 (304-293-3071).

LAMBDA TAU

In the middle of the Salem-Teikyo University campus in Salem, West Virginia, there is a section of sidewalk called "Organization Squares." Most of the 22 organizations recognized by the Student Administration have a painted square. The brothers of Lambda Tau got together the weekend before the fall semester began and repainted the APO square. It is now the brightest and proudest looking of all the "Organization Squares." Additionally the chapter sponsored a Haunted House this past Halloween where over $500 was raised for the Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Clarksburg. For more information contact the Lambda Tau Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega at P.O. Box 276, Salem-Teikyo University, Salem, West Virginia 26426.

XI PSI

Every year at Western Kentucky University, a massive pep rally is held right before Homecoming. It's called "Big Red's Roar" after WKU's mascot, Big Red. This past fall, showing that Alpha Phi Omega can be an active part of campus life, Xi Psi attended. That night, more than 30 actives and pledges arrived, some with faces painted red in honor of Western's colors. With the Alpha Phi Omega banner serving as a rallying point in the midst of the many fraternities and sororities, Xi Psi cheered and showed unbounded spirit for both Alpha Phi Omega and Western. This spirit did not go unnoticed. The Organization Spirit Stick Award was given to the chapter later that night. However, this was not the only accomplishment made at Homecoming '91. In the annual Homecoming banner competition, the chapter placed third, plus their Homecoming Queen candidate, Janie Sundermeier, was named as a finalist. To top the night off with the Alpha Phi Omega principle of service, the chapter cleaned up the outdoor theatre of litter and other trash after the "roar" was over. The next day, the chapter held a tailgate party for alumni who came back to WKU for Homecoming. Even though Western lost its Homecoming game, Xi Psi had made a huge "win" during Homecoming '91. For further information contact Kenneth Brittan at Xi Psi Chapter, Alpha Phi Omega, Western Kentucky University, Box U-209, College Heights, Bowling Green, KY 42101.

... Just-a-brother

by Betsy Ullrich
*National Leadership Development
Chairman*

As many of you know, in the Leadership Development Workshop and the Chapter Presidents Workshop, you are asked to fill out a card which includes a space marked "position in chapter." Frequently, brothers will say to me, "I don't have a position in the chapter, I'm just a brother" . . . or "I'm not one of the leaders, I'm just a brother." Brothers, you do have a position in the chapter, and I hope it is not as "just a brother."

Just-a-brother misses a chapter meeting because, well, he's too busy and anyway, he just ordered out for pizza. An active brother shows up on time, and he's even planned to have breakfast with his little brother first. Just-a-brother complains because the chapter doesn't plan projects or parties in which he is interested, but never serves on any of the committees which make these decisions. An active brother sometimes suggests a project he likes, and might volunteer to be the chairman if others in the chapter are interested in it. Sometimes he attends projects in which he is less interested, because it meets his schedule or it is an important project to the chapter.

Active brothers are leaders, even if they are not elected to an office or appointed to chair a committee. The brother who makes sure everyone has a ride to the pizza party after the chapter meeting is a brother. The brother who cheerfully volunteers to clean up after the all-night-popcorn-and-study session — and gets others to help out — is a leader. The brother who tries to find the compromise between opposing ideas at a meeting, is a leader. The brother who seeks out pledges or visitors to make them feel welcome in the chapter . . . he is a leader, too.

Every brother contributes in some way to a chapter's well-being. Being an active brother is a privilege and a responsibility. Active brothers work at projects. Active brothers make decisions at meetings. Active brothers are friends who encourage each other, help each other, and listen to each other. Active brothers know that, together, they can have more fun and can accomplish more work than they would on their own. Active brothers, like all good leaders, seek out ways to improve their understanding of themselves and the chapter, so that they can develop new and innovative ways of providing leadership, friendship, and service.

Don't be "just-a-brother" . . . be an Active Brother!

GAMMA THETA

Nine members of the University of Colorado's Gamma Theta chapter rode bicycles relay-style to Norman, Oklahoma for "Spirit Bike" to meet the brothers of Delta Beta for the OU vs. CU football game. Gamma Theta raised over $600 for the American Heart Association from private and corporate donations. The 700-mile trek from Boulder to Norman took a little over 60 hours and was a lot of fun. Members of Gamma Theta also worked in the student union the week before the event, receiving donations from students and providing information from the American Heart Association concerning heart disease and prevention. The chapter received media coverage for the event, as they were featured on the front page of the University paper, and in a number of other local and Denver papers. The project was a success and demonstrated service to the fraternity and the community, as well as friendship between brothers in other APO chapters. For further information contact Gamma Theta Chapter, Alpha Phi Omega, Campus Box 207, University Memorial Center, Boulder, Colorado 80310.

by Dave Emery
National Service
Chairman

Does your service program reflect your membership?

Our membership policy has expanded considerably over the past 62 years, but one thing that we have always included in our membership is people with varying ideas and interests. Frank Reed Horton was impressed by the way Scouts of different religious and ethnic backgrounds could work and play together. This is certainly what he also wanted for Alpha Phi Omega.

We already ask your chapter to do projects in four areas of service: to the Campus, to the Community, to the Members of the Fraternity and to the Nation. Of these four categories, service to the fraternity members is easiest to overlook and service to the nation is certainly the most difficult to think up. Much more important than faithfully including an exact balance of projects in these categories is that your chapter Service Program is made of a list of multiple projects that represent the differences of your own members.

Is your Service Program balanced with respect to new projects and "traditional" service projects? Don't let your chapter Service Program become overburdened with "traditional" service projects. Having some traditional service projects on your calendar is a good idea. These projects somehow connect us with the chapter brothers that came before you and help to make your chapter more than a club. Traditional projects also contribute to a continuing positive image on campus. "Isn't Alpha Phi Omega the group that always helps with the campus blood drive?"

Make sure that everyone contributes to the Service Program. Don't just let the service projects chosen be a product of the Service Vice-President, the Executive Committee, or even the Service Committee. As the number of people who contribute ideas to the Service Program increases, so will the volunteers to serve as project chairs. In addition, the participation at your projects will improve proportionally to the input from chapter members.

Remember, as current members of your chapter, you are Alpha Phi Omega on the campus! Each member has not only a right, but a responsibility to contribute ideas and to somehow change the group for the better. Each member should feel good about the projects that the chapter selects. If your current active members aren't excited by or interested in a particular service project, there is no rule (that I know of) stating that the project can't be changed or eliminated. Your Service Program should not be filled in with projects selected because "We've always done it that way."

Having a wide variety of Service Projects is likely to help your Membership Recruitment efforts also. This diversity of existing projects will appeal to a wider, more interesting group of potential new members.

As you come to the end of your school year, ask yourselves three important questions:

1) Did our Service Program reflect the diversity of our members as well as the needs in our community?

2) How can we better obtain service project ideas from our members?

3) Should we do anything to increase the diversity and creativity of our Service Program next term?

Answering and acting upon the answers to these questions will not only improve your Service Program, but it will strengthen your chapter as a whole.

National Alumni Gathering

As reported in the last issue of the Torch & Trefoil, all Alpha Phi Omega alumni are invited to a National Alumni Gathering in Boston, Massachusetts from July 9-12, 1992. The purpose of the meeting is to offer all alumni an opportunity and forum to discuss the future of the National Alumni Association. This National Alumni Gathering has the potential to provide direction for the National Alumni Association for years to come. You can be a participant in this key event in Alpha Phi Omega's history. Your involvement is important to the future of the Alpha Phi Omega Alumni Association and consequently our Fraternity.

The National Alumni Committee, hard at work preparing for this premier event, looks forward to greeting fellow alumni brothers in Boston. Registration and hotel information is on page 12. Please note the deadline for registration is May 15.

Registration fee for the National Alumni Gathering is $50. This fee includes meeting materials, a participant souvenir, and a reception with the National Board of Directors of Alpha Phi Omega. Hotel rates are special at $40 per night for the first 25 rooms. Regular room rates apply thereafter. Hotel reservations should be made directly with the hotel by calling 1-617-426-2000 and informing them you are with Alpha Phi Omega. Hotel rates are good for July 9-12. Why not make this a family event? Plenty of time is offered for you and your family to visit historic Boston.
