"I know of no single formula for success. But over the years I have observed that some attributes of leadership are universal and are often about finding ways of encouraging people to combine their efforts, their talents, their insights, their enthusiasm and their inspiration to work together."

— Queen Elizabeth II

Brothers,

WOW! We had a great time in Austin building community and learning about ourselves and each other. I am humbled and honored to serve as your National President. I would like to thank my family for all of their support and help, my APO family and all of you for your service and making your community better every day. As the 26th National President, I will strive to embody our ideals as we continue down the path of Leadership, Friendship and Service.

We had a business-filled legislative session that, in brief, changed our dues structure, added to our programming, selected a theme for National Service Week, elected our National Board of Directors and chose Phoenix for our 2020 National Convention. Thank you to our voting delegates. Thank you to all of the attendees in Austin for your service to Alpha Phi Omega, your chapters and the local community.

As we try to remember our new region and section names, we need to keep growing APO and the vision of Frank Reed Horton. The new National Board has had its first meeting and is excited to continue implementation of the strategic plan and goals. We are looking forward to the expanded Operations Council and the programs we can offer to our members. We will start planning for our 100th anniversary, which is swiftly approaching.

I believe that APO is the best thing you can do in college, after going to class. We are a unique group that believes in service to others and we need to continue to find our like-minded fellow students. We hope to have our 500,000th member initiated this spring. If your chapter initiates that 500,000th member, the chapter will be awarded funds to support its participation in the 2019 National Service Week Program of Emphasis.

It is going to take all of us to reach our goals over the next two years and longer. All of us working together can grow our chapters, build community, and advance our brotherhood. I challenge each of you to add to the membership of your chapter, alumni association or volunteer base. And start planning now because I want to see all of you in Phoenix! ■

Fraternally,

Robert M. Coop, P.E.
National President

LIVING DAY ONE

Leadership recognized is leadership created.

Something as simple as a “lollipop moment” can redefine leadership – a moment when someone said something or did something that fundamentally made your life better. One of the most dynamic TED Talk speakers of all time and our Convention keynote, Drew Dudley, shared his inspirational perspective about creating these lollipop moments and recognizing the leader within. His book, This is DAY ONE demonstrates how leadership creates obligation. And leaders, much like APO brothers, accept that obligation. We chase that obligation. We embrace that obligation. And together, we can redefine leadership.

He explains leaders are not CEO’s or professors full of theories and insights or high-profile athletes. Rather they are like the brothers of Alpha Phi Omega. Drew consciously chose not to highlight CEO’s in the book. Instead, he highlights some of the most inspirational stories of everyday people that have emulated leadership in the most profound ways by sharing the impact they have had on Drew and his journey of living Day One.

“Each of my journeys – to sobriety, mental and physical health, and business success – began with a Day One. There is nothing you want to achieve ‘one day’ that doesn’t begin with a Day One. Day One is when you begin the consistent behaviors that lead to what you’re hoping for one day – the weight loss, the corner office, your own business and most importantly, feelings of satisfaction, pride and peace,” Drew said. “There are going to be a lot of difficult days on your journey to recognizing and applying your leadership, so the fundamental premise is that you must treat every single one of those days like it’s Day One of your journey.”

This idea is not unique to his book. The concept is foundational in most addiction recovery programs, a mindset adopted by elite athletes and a key business philosophy of some of the world’s biggest companies. This way of living applies in a very specific context: personal leadership development.

WHY DAY ONE?

Living Day One leadership means embracing the same philosophy. “If you want to be a leader, choose to be a leader today. Repeat that choice every day. It doesn’t matter if you failed to do it yesterday or if you’ve done it every day for a decade: Every new day begins with a recommitment to that choice,” Drew said.

If every chapter and alumni member makes a commitment to living Day One every day, imagine the impact APO members could have within their chapters, on their campuses and in their communities.

Incorporating Drew’s Six Key Leadership Values – Impact, Courage, Empowerment, Growth, Class, Self-Respect into chapter recruiting programs, service project planning and fellowship activities could quite possibly be a game changer for increasing diverse membership, advancing chapter initiatives and cultivating leadership in the chapters.

IMPACT:

What have I done today to recognize someone else’s leadership?

COURAGE:

What did I try today that might not work, but I tried it anyway?

EMPOWERMENT:

What did I do today to move someone else closer to a goal?

GROWTH:

What did I do today to make it more likely someone will learn something?

CLASS:

When did I elevate instead of escalating today?

SELF-RESPECT:

What did I do today to be good to myself?

These six questions seem obvious, but if intentionally applied the self-fulfillment and return is inevitable. Things don’t happen for a reason, the reason they happen is because of you.

Drew challenged us to try living as a leader each day instead of hoping to look like a leader one day in his story “The Lollipop Moment”, which can also be viewed on TED Talk.

Take the leadership challenge by living this ideal today. Drew’s step-by-step process is designed to emerge core leadership values and embed them into our daily behaviors. These encompassing leadership values could be stepping stones toward a future of improved recruitment and the creation of new, innovative programs. Together, let’s take his challenge and craft the groundwork for building brotherhood and our Fraternity through Leadership, Friendship and Service. ■

Spring Youth Service Day

A SPECIAL DAY DEDICATED TO CHAMPIONING OUR YOUTH

Since 2001, Alpha Phi Omega brothers on campuses nationwide rally together to join the largest youth service and civic action event in the world. Spring Youth Service Day (SYSD) allows APO to make a vast impact on thousands of people; including developing chapter members as servant leaders and the individuals our efforts directly benefits. This national service event also provides brothers an opportunity to work alongside our national partner, Youth Service America for their Global Youth Service Day. This special day has given us a renewed resolve to fulfill founder Frank Reed Horton's dream that Alpha Phi Omega would make the world a better place, particularly annually in service to "the youth of all nations". Brothers, including alumni, are asked to participate annually in SYSD by planning or participating in an event that helps advance APO's goal to serve those of all walks of life.

On April 12-14, chapters will plan service projects for all youth and their adult champions to serve and celebrate, as well as to create new opportunities for all youth and their communities to thrive by working together for the common good.

As a requirement, be sure to report service projects in the Officer Portal by May 1. Additional resources can be found at apo.org. And while SYSD may just be a one weekend out of the year, chapters shouldn't let that limit them to just that short time-frame. SYSD can be the beginning of launching a meaningful and impactful long-term project. A comprehensive list of creative service projects can be found in the SYSD Handbook on apo.org. How can APO make a difference this SYSD?

FIVE WAYS TO START PLANNING

CONNECT

Connect with the youth already around you. The youth connected to your family, friends, colleagues and neighbors. At home, work, school or in your local community. These existing connections can help launch your service project. Think of these as the connections of your life and invest time in developing them. Building these connections will support and enrich your service project even more.

BE ACTIVE

Take a stand against childhood obesity and diabetes and get youth moving! Step outside and give kids the chance to learn about nature. Start a community garden. Create a kickball tournament. Organize a field day or athletic league. Most importantly, discover a physical activity children already enjoy and your service project can have a greater and longer impact.

3.

TAKE NOTICE

Recognize and celebrate young leaders. Share stories of kids making their community and better place and help fill social media with good news about our youth. Help them prepare to share a leadership story and talk about the skills they've gained through their experiences on a job or college application during interviews. Praise these service leaders for starting young.

KEEP LEARNING

Show youth they can try something new. Have them participate in engaging hands-on activities such as creative writing, arts and crafts, STEM activities and experiments and more. Sponsor a book drive to get kids reading. Or create an after-school program for local children where they can get help with their studies. Giving youth these opportunities can build confidence in the classroom.

GIVE

Give back to your community by volunteering. Commit to being fearless and kind by standing up for others, being inclusive and making a difference. Share this message with youth and encourage discussion activities to help students reflect on how important giving back is to the community. Show how rewarding volunteering can be to them and the people around them.

PROJECT IDEAS

SERVICE:

- Bring the Food Bus Project to local elementary schools to promote food recovery by collecting unused and unopened food leftovers from school lunches and distributing it to food banks.
- Elevate youth through slam poetry and give them an outlet for telling their own story.
- Build a community garden to fight hunger and provide free access to fresh produce while teaching youth how to grow and prepare their own food.
- Protect the environment with e-waste drives to help youth recycle their electronics safely and easily.
- Use macroinvertebrates to monitor your community's water supply and show youth how water quality changes over time so they can make informed decisions to safeguard the environment.
- Build a little free library to promote literacy and teach children how to build a home library.
- Start or support a backpack feeding program to guarantee any child has access to meals outside of school.

PHILANTHROPY

- Help youth in need with shoe drives. By donating shoes, we can help people living in poverty.
- Create a club to combat cancer while empowering other young people to rally for childhood cancer patients and their families.
- Create a Kind Coins for Hurricane Relief collection container to raise funds to build playgrounds at hurricane-affected schools.
- Start a Counting Cupcakes class to teach entrepreneurship and life skills to middle school students while creating a real-life bakery in the classroom.

AWARENESS

- Create healthier lives for food pantry patrons by advising local food pantries and providing educational materials about the cause and complication associated with poor nutrition in our youth.
- Host a waste management education campaign and challenge students to think critically and act on issues pertaining to environmental sanitation and sustainability for youth globally.
- Join the Kindness Rocks Project by having youth paint rocks with a positive word or message and hide them throughout their communities to inspire positivity and kindness.
- Spread refugee awareness in schools. Bring in speakers, hand out pamphlets and host activities to assist youth in refugee camps rebuild their lives.
- Combat bullying at schools through an anti-bullying program to harness the power of positive peer pressure for good.

MEMBERSHIP BY LOCATION

ON OUR WAY TO 500,000 MEMBERS

With a strategic priority of achieving consistent growth, we currently have 490,607 brothers within the Fraternity. We expect to initiate our 500,000th brother since our founding very soon. This crucial membership growth should always remain a high-level goal as it allows us to extend APO to more campuses, allows more students to grow as servant leaders and have a meaningful impact on each campus and community. # JOIN THE FIGHT RELAY FOR LIFE

In 2012, Alpha Phi Omega launched an official partnership with the American Cancer Society Relay for Life. Since then, cancer patients and survivors in communities nationwide have received support from the 1,342 events; 1,623 teams; 27,963 team participants; and $1,889,434 funds raised by our APO brothers.

This partnership was a natural connection for the Fraternity given the fact that thousands of APO members participated in Relay for Life events long before the partnership was launched. This partnership simply aggregates the existing efforts and helps promote future events to APO chapters and educates members on the important message of Relay for Life.

Brothers at Theta Zeta Chapter at the University of New Hampshire have a special reason why they walk each year. Since 2004, Theta Zeta Chapter has walked in memory of the chapter's beloved advisor John Grossi, who died from cancer that same year.

"As a chapter, we walk for John, but as individuals, we also walk for our loved ones who continue to fight, or in the memory of those who have lost their battles," Maggie Prescott, Theta Zeta Chapter '11 said "Cancer is a disease that effects each of us, whether directly or indirectly, so we in Theta Zeta are committed to helping find a cure through our participation in Relay for Life."

By participating in Relay for Life this spring, the American Cancer Society can provide fundraising for a wide range of services including research, education and treatment counseling for cancer patients, their families and medical professionals around the globe.

It's not too late to make your own imprint in the fight against cancer. Join your brothers in Relay for Life. More than 500 Relays are hosted on college campuses. You can get involved by visiting bit.ly/2ptj5ir, click "Sign Up", enter your zip code and sign up for a Relay for Life near you. When you "Start a Team" as a Team Captain, be sure to select Alpha Phi Omega from the drop-down of National Team Corporations and include Alpha Phi Omega into your team name. Or, click the "Join Existing Team" link to become a team member.

Relay for Life is a great service event, and it also fosters fellowship through shared connections and further develops you as leaders in our communities. APO brothers, let's join together in Relay for Life to create a larger, louder voice within our communities and our nation for positive change. ■

So far this year, APO brothers have already made a substantial impact through their fundraising and participation in Relay for Life events. The top five teams so far are:

- 1 Pi Eta Chapter at Loyola University of Chicago – raised $20,000
- 3 Alpha Alpha Chapter at the University of Illinois – Champaign – raised $7,567

- 2 Theta Zeta Chapter at the University of New Hampshire – raised $12,455
- 4 Pi Rho Chapter at Rider University – raised $6,000

- 5 Gamma Psi Chapter at the University of Minnesota – raised $5,545
